Litografia Bulla – Window on the street
Via del Vantaggio n.2

As the twelfth chapter of Passaggi, the window on the street of Litografia Bulla presents Pietre di testa, a new series of printed works by Elisabetta Benassi.

In collaboration with Magazzino

“There are four people in the Bulla household: Beatrice, Flaminia, Romolo e Rosalba. When I think about them, in my mind appears a very strong image from my twenties, when I was attending Nunzio’s studio and I came to the printing house on via del Vantaggio for the very first time: the big shelving, immersed in the dark, that was holding dozens of lithographic stones. Now, after more than 30 years, these stones have woken up. Ideas are like children, you need to let them grow up on their own. With Beatrice and Flaminia, the youngest of the Bulla family, I made my own work out of it.”

“To work side by side with Elisabetta was like having two extra arms; strong as her visions, with a high level of curiosity, she wanted to participate even in the technical process. She found fragments of our memory and its reference points in the cuts, in the deep silent grooves of the lithographic stones already experienced by some artists, who have given life to the machines in our printing house.”
